Mr & Mrs Bund Review

French brasserie cuisine never had it so good, creative, or playful. At international chef sensation Paul Pairet's excellent new modern French eatery -- lodged on the sixth floor of the lavishly restored Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China building on the Bund -- the atmosphere is festive, and the more than 100 dishes on the menu are meant to be shared, family-style. Signature and more popular dishes are featured in the Rookie menu. Do try the foie gras light crumble, meuniere bread (think butter and truffles), jumbo shrimp in citrus jar, steamed "Black Cod in the Bag," "Long Short Rib Teriyaki," and the to-die-for lemon tart. If none of that appeals, you can simply select your fish or viand to be cooked in a style (and sauce) of your own choosing. An Enomatic machine in the center of the restaurant dispenses 32 wines by the glass. Service is first-rate, and though the decor in classic black and red suggests formality, the place is surprisingly unpretentious. Request a table by the window for nighttime views of Pudong.
